

HAWAII TO HAVE SPECIAL NUMBER OF PUBLICATION

Promotion Committee Votes
Sum for Boosting Hawaii
Edition of Arrowhead

At a meeting of the Hawaii Promotion Committee this afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, the members voted to expend $250 for the purchase of special editions of the Arrowhead Magazine, which is published by the Salt Lake Route.

The entire edition of 50, pages, printed on glazed paper, richly illustrated, will be written by citizens of Hawaii. The publishers of the magazine announce that they will distribute 150,000 magazines to passengers on the many lines in the Middle West. Each person buying a ticket to the West from eastern points will be given a copy of the magazine.

In addition to voting the sum, the members of the committee also endorsed the plan, and it is expected that many of the prominent business houses will also vote a sum for the purchase of the special editions. The cover page which has already been printed shows an island scene in colors, and "Hawaiian Number" is marked on the page in large type.

NAB WANTED MAN AS WILHELMINA DOCKS AT COAST

Wanted here on a charge of embezzlement, Pedro Ardeser, a Filipino traveling under the alias of Topio Salabao, was taken off the Wilhelmina when it arrived in San Francisco yesterday and will be held until arrangements can be made for his return to Honolulu.

Ardeser's arrest was made through advices cable to the San Francisco authorities by Capt. Arthur McDuffie of the local police force. The captain received word last night that Ardeser is being held.

The Filipino's name, according to the story told to the police by his victims, was to induce Filipino laborers on the plantations to give him their money, telling them that he would buy tickets and supplies for them to make the trip to San Francisco in a body.

In all $570 was thus gathered, they say, the individual sums ranging around $70 and $80. Five of the men said to have thus given their money are from Maui, two are from Waipahu. When Pedro disappeared without giving them any hints as to his whereabouts, the action became suspicious and reported to the police.

Charles Titcomb was the low bidder on the warehouse. He asked $1740 and 40 days for the job, deducting $50 from his bid if the water tank was left out of the specifications.

STRANGE GIVEN AD CLUB ALOHA AND FOB EMBLEM

be the presentation of the fob a secret which everybody shared but the recipient himself.

The presentation speech was briefly and appropriately made by Tom Sharp, secretary pro tem. He referred to the esteem in which Mr. Strange is held by his Ad Club brethren and then presented the fob, saying, "We will tag you so that if you get lost in any of the great cities, they can send you back to Hawaii."

Mr. Strange's speech in response was an earnest talk in which he mentioned but briefly his own work and spoke enthusiastically of the work of the Ad Club.

"I am proud to have been working with the Ad Club for Hawaii," he said. "I believe the Ad Club is an asset to the community and that the years to come will tell its effect. The club has created a community spirit and one prompted by the love of unselfish service to Hawaii. My good wishes will be with you wherever I go and whatever may happen to me, and I am going to carry the Ad Club spirit to the trenches."

"I shall always be a strenuous upholder of America and Americans, though at heart I am an Englishman and always shall be. But what success I have attained is due to the fact that I have gained some measure of American methods."

He also urged that the club get behind the Pan-Pacific movement, of which he is one of the directors, and the club responded by authorizing a committee to take the matter up.

Among the newspapermen who spoke in tribute to Strange were R. O. Matheson, editor of the Advertiser, and Riley H. Allen, editor of the Star-Bulletin.

President J. W. Mauck of Hillsdale College, with an impromptu "proxy" from Herbert Houston, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, also spoke in praise of Mr. Strange and the Ad Club.

Another interesting feature of the day was a talk by W. L. Hathaway of San Francisco upon "How the Fair Began."

Mr. Hathaway, who is the San Francisco manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, was a member of President Moore's executive committee of seven and insurance commissioner for the big fair. He told in an extremely interesting manner of the broad foundation for international service laid by the 117 insurance congresses during the fair, and of the widening scope of insurance and its advertising value to communities. President Moore, he commented, is one of the biggest men this nation has produced, as he proved in his position.

Louis W. Hill, successor to James J. Hill as active head of the Hill railroad and steamship interests, will receive tonight or tomorrow an invitation from the Ad Club to come to Hawaii and look over the field. "This was the result of brief and energetic action by the club in voting to invite Mr. Hill and to do it by telegraph. The move is to help get the Great Northern assured a permanent run here."

Harry Strange, as chairman of the club's Carnival committee, reported that the club's work in opening the Carnival on the first night was a financial success. "For the first time the opening night of the Carnival has shown a balance on the right side of the ledger," he said.

Albion Clark, for the road committee, reported that the county is "broke" and the outlook for road improvement in the near future is not scintillatingly bright.
